ABOUT THE EXHIBITION:

"Modern Olympic Games" is a solo exhibition by Daria Fetisova that celebrates the intersection of art, sport, and culture, offering a unique perspective on the modern Olympic Games. Daria explores the concept of willpower and its pivotal role in striving for an ideal balance of mind, body, and soul. Her work questions, "What is will?" and seeks inspiration in the pursuit of excellence, epitomized by the Olympic Games.

Reflecting the Olympic motto "Citius, Altius, Fortius – Communitur" (Latin for "Faster, Higher, Stronger – Together"), this exhibition highlights the unifying power of the Games, a tradition dating back to Ancient Greece, where art and sport collectively paused wars and conflicts. Artistic expression, an integral component of the Games, is vividly brought to life through Daria's work.

The exhibition features a diverse range of artistic mediums, each uniquely capturing a facet of the Olympic spirit. Alongside a series of canvases that depict various contemporary Olympic sports, intertwined with Cypriot landscapes, the exhibition includes "A Future Champion," a poignant portrait of a young aspiring athlete. This work illustrates the long and challenging journey to Olympic success, highlighting the dedication and youthfulness of those who dream of reaching the podium.

Further enriching the exhibition, the abstract series "Together" consists of several pieces, representing significant moments from Olympic history. Moments that were defined by the show of valor where athletes sacrificed individual ambition in favor of standing by their rivals, moments that encapsulate the essence of the Games' motto, showcasing not just athletic prowess, but the spirit of unity and camaraderie that underpins the Olympic movement. Additionally, the silkscreen painting "The Triumph of Strength" celebrates the Olympics as a festival of human achievement, capturing the joy and grandeur of the event. Complementing these pieces, the exhibition also showcases ceramic sculptures of gymnasts, intricate lithographs that evoke the genesis of the Games, and an expressive linocut print, offering a diverse and rich exploration of the theme.
